Where are the most graduates finding full-time employment?

Education 43.13% of graduates employed full-time		Engineering 65.46% of graduates employed full-time	59.33% of graduates employed		Biology & Life Science 65.25% of graduates employed full-time
	The largest number of graduate students study education, yet the least number of students find full-time employment.
Humanities & Liberal Arts
51.52% of graduates employed full-time		Psychology & Social Work 54.61% of graduates employed full-time		Physical Sciences 63.76% of graduates employed full-time		Computers & Mathematics 68.18% of graduates employed full-time Highest percentage of full-time employment for graduate students.
Business 67.29% of graduates employed full-time		Health 59.40% of graduates employed full-time		Arts 49.34% of graduates employed full-time Communications & Journalism 62.82% of graduates employed full-time		Industrial Arts & Consumer Services 53.89% of graduates employed	Law & Public Policy 64.86% of graduates employed full-time
						Agriculture & Natural Resources		